

Syllabus – Elective Course

Course title:

Introduction to French & Francophone Women Writers

Credits:

6 ECTS credits

Teaching language:

English

Target students:

Undergraduate students from all study areas with an interest in French Literature.

Teacher in charge of the course:

Nadia Louar, PhD- Associate Professor University of Wisconsin Oshkosh

COURSE PRESENTATION

Prerequisite:

Students undertaking this course should normally have successfully completed at least one semester at university, or have equivalent experience. They must have some ability to work as a group and be able to communicate easily in English at a standard university level. In other respects, the course is intended to serve a mix of profiles and learning backgrounds for a more diverse international learning experience.

Content:

This course will provide students with an introduction to / overview of the literary representation of gendered experiences in personal stories authored by a range of leading contemporary female French-speaking writers.

By reading selection of critical writings alongside literary texts, we will explore the relation between sexual identity and literary practices and between gender and genre.

How do stories shape our understanding of gender roles? How do they reveal stereotypes about femininity, masculinity, sexuality and ethnicity? How does literature deconstruct common attitudes about sex, gender, abortion, sexual difference, sexual politics, language, culture and society? What is the role of women's writing in contemporary France in reimagining and reshaping sexual and racial identities? How does the representation of gendered and racialized experiences in women's literature challenge the dominant patriarchal and colonial discourse of contemporary France?

Course sessions will include:

- Lectures
- Discussions
- Close reading analysis

- Individual and group presentations
- Wrap-up and evaluation

Learning Outcomes:

By the end of the course, the students should:

- Acquire knowledge of women's writing in contemporary France
- Acquire the critical vocabulary used in the field of literature and women's studies
- Develop an ability to use concepts of literary and cultural analysis
- Develop an ability to engage in focused discussion and formal presentation
- Develop an understanding of the issues involved in writing autobiographically
- Improve reading skills through close readings of texts
- Understand various critical approaches to women's writing
