Course title:

Project Management for Everyone

Credits:

6 ECTS credits

Teaching language:

English

Target students:

Undergraduate students from all study areas with an interest in studying concrete cases on how to manage a project.

Teacher in charge of the course:

Philippe Vandeville, MSc (JUNIA ISEN Engineering School, Université Catholique de Lille)

COURSE PRESENTATION

Prerequisite:

To take this course, the students should have successfully completed at least 2 semesters of university study and have a solid technical background and/or ability. They must have some ability to work as a group and be able to communicate easily in English. The course is aimed at a mix of profiles and interests for a more diverse project management experience; there is no specific course prerequisite.

Content:

The course is highly interactive and will provide students with methodological and practical tools to manage a project during their future careers. Students come from all over the world and form different programs in their home universities. This is one of the big strengths of this course as students will be exposed to other cultures and techniques in fields ranging from engineering and science to management and communication.

As a consequence, before the course, students will fill in a questionnaire so that the content is adapted to their previous background and experiences.

Course sessions will include:

- Project and Project Management: definitions and characteristics.
- Breaking down a project into stages (WBS)
- Scheduling (Scheduling software)
- Cost budgeting and Cost control (basis)
Learning Outcomes:

By the end of the course, the students should be able to:

- understand the methodology of Project Management as well as various aspects and specificities of team building
- utilize the main tools in Project Management, including Clarification Note, WBS, Schedule, Budget, Risks & Opportunities Analysis, Communication Plan
- organize themselves efficiently, implementing the Methodology and those main tools, to develop a project

<td>At the start of the course, students receive some instructions about a project that they have to prepare during the course. They have to group with other students and define roles between themselves. At the end of the course, they will present their project results to a jury composed of the teacher (see above), other faculty members of the partner school as well staff members of partner universities. The jury will assess the results in comparison with the initial assessment but also with the other groups of the class. Quality of the project, thorough thinking on the study case and quality of the presentation will be taken into account for the grading.</td>
