COURSE PRESENTATION

Prerequisite:

Students undertaking this course should have successfully completed at least one semester at university, or have equivalent experience. They must have some ability to work as a group and be able to communicate easily in English at a standard university level. In other respects, the course is intended to serve a mix of profiles and learning backgrounds for a more diverse international learning experience.

Content:

This course is intended to provide an introduction to a wide range of issues concerning teamwork and communication in an international and intercultural environment. Topics to be covered in course sessions will include:

- Icebreaking activity
- Several activities to actively increase team cohesion
- What motivates you in teamwork
- What are the challenges and opportunities in multicultural teams
- Layers of diversity in teams and inclusion as a leverage for diverse teams
- Obstacles in team building and how to work around them
- Building trust in international teams
- Stages of team development (Bruce Tuckman)
- From ethnocentric to ethnorelative (Milton Bennett)
- Management and leadership: The specificities of international teams
- Team roles and team models (Meredith Belbin)
- The role of values in team building
- The influence of communication styles in teams
- Trompenaar’s 4-R model: Reconciling differences and building a team culture
- Molinsky’s Global Dexterity model: Diagnosis of differences and customization of behaviour (stretching your comfort zone)
- The role of corporate culture in teams
- Diverse teams at work: The model of Gardenschwartz and Rowe
- Combination of interactive workshops, collaborative team activities, self-discovery tools and research
- Two group presentations

Learning Outcomes:

At the end of the course, the students should be able to:

- Recognize the different elements that make up team culture
- Demonstrate the role culture plays on general and professional communication and behaviour
- Suggest ways to respect and reconcile the individual characteristics that make a difference
- Evaluate the relative importance of different elements in communication situations
- Apply different cultural orientations to correctly analyse situations
- Understand their strengths, weaknesses and preferred role as team players
- Apply principles of team management in a diverse team
- Interact more sensitively within international teams
- Develop a capacity for culturally sensitive critical analysis
- Interpret different elements of verbal and non-verbal communication and adapt communication styles
- Analyse critical incidents in teams and start to provide solutions
- Be able to integrate a new team showing flexible and inclusive behavior
