COURSE PRESENTATION

Prerequisite:

Students undertaking this course should normally have successfully completed at least one semester at university, or have equivalent experience. They should have an advanced level in French (minimum B2 level).

An initial 1h30 placement test evaluates students’ linguistic skills including grammar, vocabulary, reading, writing and listening. A 10-minute interview with a member of the ICL-Clarife (language centre of the Université Catholique de Lille) assesses speaking ability. Following the placement test, the numbers of level groups are determined depending on total number of students, and are based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (see www.coe.int). If the placement test assesses that the student does not have the required level in French, they will be oriented towards another ESP course that may be in English or in French depending on availability.

Content:

The purpose of this course is to provide an introduction to the history and scope of French cinema from its invention to the present time through the analysis of key works of the French film canon. Particular attention will be paid to successive period styles as well as to various genres. A variety of critical lenses will be used (psychoanalysis, socio-historical and cultural context, politics, aesthetics, gender...) in an effort to better understand the specificities and complexities of these films. This course will help students enhance their analytical skills through the in-depth study of key scenes. They will learn to decipher the formal techniques specific to the film medium and be able to understand their pertinence in different contexts. Finally, they will improve their ability to work in groups and speak in public in a foreign language.
